God gives us a new morning

The sun peeks over the horizon to greet us each day;

And as the birds sing in chorus to Praise our Creator God,

All things awake and spring to life, a new day begins.

Another day on the calendar of our existence.

Colours of pink, blues and yellow, orange and purple appear for all to see, the hand of our Father painting a glorious image for us to admire, amazed at another wonderful day for us to walk through.

How can we deny the existence of a Creator so perfect, so amazing.

All things beautiful, He has thought of just for us His people,

The cool of the night slowly fades and the warmth of the sunlight dries up the dew that fell through the night.

We lift our hearts to acknowledge Him and give glory to Him for His incredible

Love; He so abundantly pours out, through His creation, the Great Artist at work, all around we can see His creative work.

The waves roll in to touch the shore, dried in it's time and welcoming the incoming tide.

Soft roars become loud as each wave arrives, soon it will be high tide again, for He has commanded.

He holds back the oceans and causes them to ebb and flow, at each command they respond in His time; and reaching a shoreline He has determined. A circle ongoing, each day and each night.

Shadows appear as the sun ascends; reflecting on the water, again and again

Again, the Creator's hand can be seen, painting a portrait for us humans to see.

How do you explain the image emerging? how can we compare His gifts we have to enjoy?

How do we say thank you for this world He has made? all for our blessing, for us to embrace.
